Lemons Will Cure Malaria.

Lemons Will Cure Malaria.

The following, taken from the New York Sun, was given to the News by Mr. R. R. Brakeman of this city who states that he has been cured of malaria by the use of lemons:

by the use of lemons:
"Some twenty years ago I was a vic-Miss Mabel Holcomb is spending a few weeks at Mikesville, Alachua county, the guest of Miss Leda Houston.

Some twenty years ago it was a victim of the disease, and, of course, took the quinine treatment, till my head began to grow big and roar internally and gan to grow big and foar internally and infernally. A change of climate was recommended, and I went to Saratoga, but my head continued to require more space and the roaring became louder, till I thought I would go mad.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. R. Galligher, who have been touring the state in an automobile, returned to Palatka on Wednesday.

Judge Coxe has so far recovered from Judge have the injurious effect of quinine. He was successful, and in many places where public works had been abandon-ed because of malaria among the men they were resumed. His cure was very simple and within the reach of all. Take one lemon, wash thoroughly with a brush and hot water till all germs are gone, cut in very small pieces, using skin, seeds and all; cook in three glasses of water till reduced to one, and take his while fasting. I took it before treakfast, and in less than a week I was myself again. Since then I've had no use for doctors. If I feel a little 'off' I esort to the lemon cure and all is well.

Orpheum Theater Attractions.

The past week has not been favorable to out of door entertainments because of frequent rains in the evening. That was specially unfortunate for Manager Kalbfield of the Orpheum, who had prepared specially attractive programs of pictures and vaudeville.

Dick Deloris is a wonderful musical artist, and funny. He stands on his he d with his back to the piano and plays tunes on the keys, though they be over-tayed with a cloth. He does many other funny musical stunts, and the crowd liked him. Because of the frequent rains and inability to open on several nights, Dick will remain through the balance of the week.

To-night will again be amateur night, and on Saturday a souvenir will be given to the lucky coupon holder—save them. There are some specially fine pictures engaged for the first two nights next veek, and those for to night and Satur day will be worth seeing.

MAN, STUDY YOUR HAIR!

Then Before You Comb It Study the

Architecture of Your Face. Just as surely as hair is woman's erowning glory it is man's glorious crowning-that is, to those that have it. Those whose heads have pushed up through their hair usually use a buckaback towel for the delicate process of parting the hair, but unless one has the peculiar requirements it is not worth while to cultivate them,

Men with low, squatting foreheads should not pull their hair dewn over their brows, and men whose foreheads are beginning to work back should invite their locks down. If your hair has quietly slipped down toward your ears on each side, leave it there. If you bring it up in strings and wisps it will merely look like climbing vines and will never really have the free and easy homelike appearance that ought to be the part of all natural hair.

Do not part your hair any earlier than you can help. Hair is in a hurry these days, anyway. Usually it doesn't stay more than long enough to make sure that the baby is going to be a boy before it hastens off. It will part of itself soon enough the best you can do, Before combing your hair you should et acquainted with the architecture of your face. If your face is of the harvest moon variety do not inlay your hair. Puff it up as much as possible. It's better to look like a feather duster on a Monday morning than a eratched billiard ball on a Saturday night.

But if your face is of a long, gallopng ensemble do not encourage your hair to fluff. Instead keep it down close to headquarters. If your head fuclines to run up to a cone do not spread your hair around in imitation pecially with the Odd Fellows and the Improved Order of Red Men.

HUNTING THE WALRUS.

The Eskimo Takes Advantage of the Animal's Curiosity.

In his frail skinboat it is a difficult and dangerous task for the Eskimo to go out to sea forty to sixty miles and intercept the walrus as he passes or his migration into the Arctic,

One carcass will fill his bont, for it weighs from 1,000 to 3,000 pounds He hunts the walrus when they are lying asleep on the ice floes in herds from ten to several hundred. Death must be instantaneous, else with a few rolls or the peculiar lumbering, hump ing movement (seen of the seal when ashore), he makes the few feet to the water and then is lost, as he has not sufficient blubber and air to float. He has much natural curlosity, and if not scared by shots will come up close to your boat or the ice floe on which you are sitting, spurting, snorting and rolling his eyes; with his gleaming tusks and bristled snout he has an uncanny goblin, monster-like appearance. A herd of fifty or sixty of them will come up en masse, raise high out of the water to stare at you, then snort, spurt and disappear again, only to come up on the same spot and repeat the maneuver indefinitely. Taking advantage of this the Eskimos hide be hind ice hummocks and throw a harpoon into one, then snub the tough rawhide line around an ice cake. He must perforce come up to blow, and he is then killed with the rifle. The thick Next Sunday is Quarterly Meeting, skin and the mass of blubber and meat

MAKE THEM LAUGH.

A Bachelor's Idea of the Way Children Should Be Trained.

"The people who don't have to do things can always do them better than the people who are obliged to do them," said the cynical bachelor. "If you want to know how to invest money, ask a fellow who has never had any to invest. I suppose it's the same with raising children. Neverthe less, I am fond of children, and never having had an opportunity of raising any of my own, I am critical about the way other people, more fortunate than

I, raise theirs. "My brother has a youngster, a boy about six years old, and everything that kid wants be cries for. The min ute he begins to cry he gets it, which according to my reasoning, is all

"Why not make him laugh for it" It's just as easy for a child to laugh as to cry, and it's far more healthful, besides being much more cheerful for the surrounding populace.

"I've tried the experiment with him and it works like a charm. If I hap pen to have anything he wants, and he cries for it, I make fun of him. 'That isn't the way to get it,' I say. 'Don't cry for it. Laugh for it.'

"It took only about two lessons for him to understand this, and you have no idea what a wonderful difference it has made in the disposition of that kid, Still, I'm only an old bachelor, and I'm not supposed to know anything about such things."-Philadelphia Ledger.

Something to Live For. Three little girls were playing. The mother of one came into the room and engaged the children in conversation. "Marian, what are you going to be when you grow up?" she asked. "I am going to be a famous singer," she replied. "And you, Susie, what are you to be?"

"Oh, I am going to write stories when I grow up," she answered. "And what is Marjorie to be?" continued the mother.

Marjorie, aged five, thought seriously a moment, and then said, "Well, I am not sure, but I think I'll be a widow." -Delineator.

She Was Different.

"John," asked his wife, who was writing to one of her former schoolmates, "which is proper-to say, 'I differ from you' or 'I differ with you?" "Tell her you differ from her. I understand that she lets her husband keep part of his salary to have fun with himself."-Chicago Record-Her-
